A boy named Deepak was once taking care of some sheep not far from a forest. Nearby was a village, and he was told to call for help if there was any danger. One day, in order to have fun, he cried out with all his power, "The wolf is coming! The wolf is coming!" The men came running with sticks and axes to save the boy from the wolf. As they saw nothing, they went home and left Deepak laughing. Because he had had so much fun, Deepak cried out again the next day, "The wolf! The wolf!" The men came again, but not as many as the first time. Again they saw no trace of the wolf, so they shook their heads and went back. On the third day, the wolf came in reality. Deepak cried in dismay, "Help! Help! The wolf! The wolf!" But not a single man came to help him. The wolf broke into the flock and killed a great many sheep. Among them was a beautiful lamb that belonged to Deepak. Then he felt very sorry that he had deceived his friends and neighbours, and over the loss of his pet lamb. The Wind and the Leaves

“Come, little leaves,” said the wind one day,

“Come over the meadows with me and play.

Put on your dresses of red and gold;

For summer is gone, and the days grow cold.”

Soon as the leaves heard the wind’s loud call,

Down they came fluttering, one and all.

O’er the brown field then they danced and flew

Singing the soft little songs they knew.

Dancing and whirling, the little leaves went,

Winter had called them, and they were content.
